

I CLAIM:

1. A document holder for holding one or more sheets of paper comprising:

a front, generally flat, rectangular cover and a back, generally flat, rectangular cover, said covers being formed of a single sheet of material and joined together by only a portion of said material adjacent one corner of said front and back covers, and a substantially triangularly shaped clip pivotably mounted to both of said front and back covers adjacent said corner, said clip being pivotable from an operative position wherein the papers are held between said covers by said clip and an inoperative position wherein the papers may be released from said clip, said clip covering said portion of said material when in said operative position.

2. The document holder of Claim 1 wherein said front and back covers are scored adjacent said corner.

3. The document holder of Claim 1 wherein said covers are transparent.

4. The document holder of Claim 1 wherein said covers are translucent.